Four Students Fill Cheerleader Posts

Four new cheerleaders were selected from a group of sixteen finalists to complete next year's squad.

Juniors Sue Crane and Carla Schoen, and sophomores Joyce Newman and Penny Weed will fill the places of the four departing seniors Julie Bodwell, Adrienne Ingley, Pat Lovshin, and Diana Neale.

DeeDee Burton, the new captain, will lead the new group that includes two other returning cheerleaders, Suzie Conner and Betsy Geller. The new cheerleaders were chosen on their ability, spirit, personality, teacher recommendations, and poise.

Several new requirements have been incorporated in the rules for selecting cheerleaders. A test on football and boys' basketball rules was given to all finalists to assure Shaker of cheerleaders who can cheer with intelligence.

Another new requirement is that all old cheerleaders must try out again at the end of their junior year.

Summer School Draws Students; Many Await Final Report Cards

Eager applicants for Summer School swarmed Shaker High on May 26, the registration day. Many of the 500 students arrived at school at 6:30 a.m., an hour and a half early, in order to assure placement.

During summer school this year, a survey will be taken on the desirability of shortening the overall time of eight weeks without losing class time. On this

Notehand Introduced

A new course, Notehand, is being introduced this summer. This subject is a combination of proper note taking and shorthand However, at this date, few Shakerites have displayed a definite interest in this course.

The most popular courses tend to be first year French, American Government, tpying, mathematics, and reading improvement.

Summer school offers students the opportunity to receive not only remedial training but also advanced credits and fields that they otherwise would not have time to study.

It is hoped that summer school will not become a forced situation. It can be a valuable experience for any student aspiring to college or a good job in the years ahead.

Robert Morris, Assistant Principal, sends an encouraging message to enthusiastic scholars, "I expect to see many of my good friends in summer school."

By this vote of confidence the seniors have indicated that they feel both winners have exemplified outstanding service to the school, leadership, honesty, and friendship.

Rex has had the opportunity to display these characteristics as a class and homeroom officer, and as chairman of the Civics Committee. Mary Ellen has been very active in girls' sports and as a Gristmill editor.

The wto winners were elected by a vote of the entire senior class. The four runners-up were Louise Cort, Janie Kaiser, Dave Gordon, and Bob Rawson. Each of these four received book awards from the Shaker Heights Dads' Club.

The Citizenship Awards are considered one of the highest honors that a Shaker senior can receive. Each year, since 1947, the standards for the Awards have been determined by a class meeting conducted by Mr. Rupp. After this, a student nomination and election determines the win-

Students regretting their behavior in regular study hall as thoughts of honor study hall now seem out of reach should take heart. Next year all juniors and seniors will be permitted to attend a type of honor study hall.

Each day next year juniors and seniors will choose one of three student-proctored study halls. One of the study halls will be held in room 210, except during lunch periods, and will be for serious, completely quiet, independent study only. Several other rooms, to be designated next year, will be reserved for lunch period study halls of this type.

Another, held in room 224,

A third, in the library, will be for students using the library facilities. The study hall policies for the sophomores will be the same as in the past.

Central Committee in Charge

The new Central Committee, led by its executive members Kathy Black, John Hexter, Dan Hibshman, Christine Adler, and Tom Getzendanner, is organizing these study hall reforms. The other members of the committee, who will act as proctors, will be announced on Honor Day.

It is hoped that this new procedure will encourage student independence and responsibility. This system will also allow teachers more time for work out of the classroom.

At the beginning of the year no attendance will be taken. This policy will continue as long as it remains practical, but there will be a severe penalty for any student who is caught cutting

He graduated from Ohio State University and later attended Western Reserve University, where he received his Ph.D. He taught history in Cleveland secondary schools and produced school programs for radio station WTAM until 1938, when he became director of Station WBOE.

Dr. Levenson became Assistant Superintendent of Cleveland Schools in 1947 and succeeded to Deputy Superintendent in 1954. On August 1, 1961 he became Superintendent of Cleveland Public Schools.

Educational Author

Dr. Levenson is a firm believer in educational programming for radio and television and is former president of the Association for Education by Radio-Television. He has written several articles on this subject, and is the author of four books, Teaching Through Radio, Teaching Through Radio and Television, Steve Sears, Ace Announcer, and Radio English.

Dr. Levenson is a resident of Shaker Heights and his daughter graduated from Shaker High School last year.

Commencement will be held at 8:30 p.m. in Severance Hall.

Gala Senior Prom Festivities To Accent Senior Graduation

The annual Senior Prom will be held on Wednesday, June 13, 1962, from 9:00 to 1:00 in the Byron Junior High School gymnasium.

The music of Hal Lynn and his orchestra will resound in the lavishly decorated gymnasium which will be transformed into a Venetian ball room.

As part of the traditional ceremony of the dance, members of the senior class were required to sign their names and their dates in the Prom Book during the week of May 21 to May 25.

The receiving line at the formal affair will consist of Mr. and Mrs. Morris, Miss Orndorff, Mr. and Mrs. Rupp, and Judi Goodman and senior class president Dave Gordon.

Coliseum to Follow

After the dance, the parents are sponsoring a party at the Coliseum from 2.00 to 6:00 a.m. Bowling, miniature golf, and swimming will be among the activities.

The gala Senior Prom will be the social highlight of the special senior activities which include Honor Day, Senor Privileges Week, and finally Commencement on June 15.

Failures Foreseen

There is probably nothing more disappointing or disgusting than having a well-planned affair ruined because of poor attendance or lack of participation. Considering the state of apathy into which the majority of Shaker's students have fallen, the future can not be viewed with any great degree of optimism.

The indifference of the school body toward school-sponsored activities became evident at the presentation of the Senior Class Play, "Blithe Spirit," and is now manifesting itself in the form of disdain toward the sale of advanced football tickets. It may appear that buying tickets to a play, merely to support a class, is a form of charity, but no one who went to the play can complain that he did not receive his money's worth. There is definitely no excuse for failure to make an attempt to sell the football tickets. Here one is merely giving of himself, giving a little of his time to do his school a lot of good.

It does not seem reasonable that Shaker will capture all of the LEL championships next year, but one thing is certain. Without the active support of the entire student body we will have no chance of winning any. And without support, all of Shaker's activities will probably deteriorate to the point of boredom.

Pre-Med Club Members Prick Students To Determine Blood Types to Study

May 10 dawned a day of trials and tribulations as the Pre-Med Club began its annual blood study. The project encompassed those biology students who had their parents' permission and were willing to be tested.

Begun last year, the typing is part of a program which is to be continued for several years in succession. It is of dual purpose in that it is of aid to the biology classes studying blood and at the same time is good training for those in the club. Pre-Med members are working on establishing a relation between physical characteristics and the types of blood.

The members themselves did the testing and were chosen after submitting an application. The nurse taught them the procedure of testing blood and determining in which group it belonged.

Blood is diveded into four major groups: A, B, AB, O. The Rh factor, either positive or negative, is also included in the typing. After the students were tested, they were asked to fill out forms indicating personal characteristics as well as their

According to Dick Stanford, who led the study, approximately 370 students were tested, but only 347 filled out the forms correctly. Of these, 36.4% were typed A+, the most common group.

The least common type was AB—, which compiled only 1.7%. Of those tested, 88.5% had RH+ blood, which closely compares with the general average of 87%.

Panel Picks Nine New Members To Issue Demerits to Students

Members of the Demerit Panel for the 1962-1963 school year have been chosen by the Deans and this year's panel. Eligibility for these positions was based on leadership, scholastic standing, and sound judgment.

Paul Rothchild, Vice-President-elect of next year's Student Council, will be serving as chairman, the position presently held by Vice-President Peter Herkner.

Next year's panel will be composed of Seniors Denis Beeson, Jeanne Brown, James Orr, Joseph Shafran, and Laura Shapero, and juniors Joyce Newman, Joan Pekoc, Evelyn Repak, and Kenneth LaVetter. The new members hope to standardize as well as to make more effective the various duties assigned to the organization.

Not Student Court

The panel keeps a cumulative record of all demerits received by each student. If a student receives five demerits he is summoned before the panel.

The panel may counsel and warn and then recommend various corrective measures. Nevertheless, it is not a student court.

If a student receives no demerits for a month's time, then two demerits are subtracted from his record. Two more demerits are subtracted if he goes along for two months without receiving demerits, and so

Present Treasurers Instruct; Treasurers-to-be Learn Jobs

Headed by Jack Fuhrer, business manager, five student treasurers transact all the financial business of every school club. These five treasurers are assisted by Kenneth Caldwell who is in charge of Student Activities.

Co-treasurers Dee Dee Rocker and Marsha Teitelbaum keep both a ledger and a journal of the finances. The journal is a daily record of each transaction whereas the ledger lists the monthly transactions of individual funds.

When a club spends any amount of money, the final check must be co-signed by the Business Manager and Mr. Caldwell.

Two Athletic Treasurers

The Athletic Department sponsors so many athletic events, which in turn bring in a great amount of money, that two athletic treasurers are necessary.

The two athletic treasurers for this year were Howard Reese and Dave Saunders. They supervised the selling of tickets to all the sports events.

New treasurers for next year are Marc Glassman, Diane Diamond, Al Goldman, Janice Klopper, and Ralph Levy. They have already undergone an extensive indoctrination and training program. Mr. Caldwell chose Marc to lead fine group as Business Manager.

Quill and Scroll

Trio of Sophomores Put Shakerite in Its Place

The three sophomores who criticized the Shakerite (Shaker's only honest and informative high school newspaper) within hearing distance of the Shakerite office (Shaker's only truly intellectual meeting place) have just returned from the hospital after their informal interview by the Shakerite editors.

Mumbling incoherent phrases such as, "No! not the paddle-wheel again!" and "Please don't make me proof-read anymore!" the sophomores have been turned over to the Shakerit staff for disciplinary measures.

Speaking for the well-written student newspaper, editor Crank Cronenberg summed up the scandal sheet's position. "We do not want to punish these students, who obviously had not the taste development for our above-average literary success. At the same time, however, we of the Shakerite think that certainly some disciplinary action is necessary."

Novel Ideas

Some of the sophomore critics' suggestions have bee ntaken to heart, though. Among them, the Shakerite has agreed to cease publication every three weeks, and will publish, instead, every morning, being solely responsible for the daily attendance sheet which has more names in it and, therefore, greater intellectual reader interest.

The daily attendance sheet, however, will feature some of the old Shakerite affectations—including shiny, expensive looking paper and an uproarious satire column.

Though their suggestions will be followed, the three sophomores (Athos, Portos, and D'Artagnan) will still be severely punished. The three wil be forced to take final exams at the end of this semester, which this article was supposed to be about.

Combination Choral Festival Marks 50 Years of Education

For the first time at Shaker the junior and senior high school choirs combined for a Secondary Schools Choral Festival. This program was part of the celebration of fity years of education in Shaker Heights.

The Choral Festival was presented, after only one rehearsal, on May 25 in the Senior High School Auditorium. Reynold Ellis, a director of the choirs, remarked, "It was very thrilling to hear so many voices, and all Shaker voices. From all indications this program will be continued."

The program included three selections: a piece from the Junior High Girls Choruses, the Junior High A Cappella Choirs, and the High School A Cappella Choir. Among these were "Getting to Know You." "Battle Hymn of the Republic", and "Cry Out and Shout".

The performance was brought to a close by the combined Junior-Senior High School Choirs singing "Alleluia," "Soon Ah Will Be Done," and "When Johnny Comes Marching Home."

Crone and Alex De John from Byron Junior High, Robert Witbeck and Leonard Moss from Woodbury Junior High, and Mr. Ellis from the Senior High. Mr. Ellis thinks that this program was an excellent way for students from the two junior highs to meet each other.

Robson Leads Team To District Triumph And Tenth in State

In two weekends Shaker's powerful golf team won the district golf championship and placed tenth in the state meet at Columbus. At the same time, another group of Shaker golfers trounced Wickliffe and Parma.

John Robson, sophomore standout, led the team at both district and state. Robson golfed the team low at district with a 78 and was third in the state after the first round at state with a 79. Jeff Gerth played his normal, steady game at state and came in with an 80. Eric Shaw and John Schumacher rounded out the foursome.

The Shaker team has had a fine season with 19 wins, 3 losses, and 2 ties. They outmatched arch-rival Heights two out of three times. Jeff Gerth posted the best score of this year with a 72. Other outstanding men, besides the first four, were Larry Singer and Roger Perlmuter.

John Robson and Eric Shaw will return next year to give the team a bright future. The JayVees, now playing in the Budin Tournament, will be the backbone of the team next year.

Junior Jim Orr led the tournament at the halfway mark. Other outstanding JayVees were Fred Weed, Dick Weiss, and Bill Sahle. Coach Stoch expresses high hopes for next year when he says, "They may be contenders for state."

Combinations of bad luck and lack of depth in field events killed the chances of Coach Bob Rice's crew of track men for honors in the state track meet, Lake Erie League meet, and Brush Relays. Second place finishes in the last two meets were the results of these combinations, but Jim McGeorge's state championship leap of 22' 91/2" in the broad jump was a bright spot in the Raiders' efforts at Columbus.

inning and was leading 4-1 in the seventh behind the pitching of Jerry Goetz when Euclid let loose with a barrage of extra base hits and pulled even at 4-4. It was a tie ball game until the tenth frame, when the Panthers scored another run to win.

Through the season, the Shaker team showed its power and won three out of three games against Lakewood, Shaw, and Heights. However, they could take only one out of three from Parma and from champion Euclid. The Raiders won one out of two, defeating U.S. and falling to Garfield.

The Raiders surpassed expectations in most respects this year. Hurlers Pete Fager, Joe Petko, and Jerry Goetz stood up well on the mound, while Dave Gordon and Steve Abrams gave fine defensive performances in the outfield. Bob Rawson, Tom Humphrey, Brian Kutash, and Larry Lukasik fared well in the infield, as well as at the plate. Tom Humphrey was the leading hitter, with a .268 average.

Coach Fred Heinlen reports that the main reason for Shaker's fine season were good pitching, excellent defense, and timely hitting. However, he hesitates to comment on next year until after the summer program for prospective Red Raiders.

for a team victory in the state meet. Dash man Greg Druian passed the qualifying rounds in the 100- and 220-yard dashes, but was set back in the finals. losing one race to Collinwood's talented triple winner. Theo Morrow.

Weakness in the shot put, discus, pole vault, and high jump kept victory from the Raiders' hands in the L.E.L. meet and Brush Relays. Despite eight first places and three new records in the former, held at Euclid on the evening of June 1, Shaker's team finished four points behind the Euclid Panthers. Double victories by Kardos and Druian and best marks in the broad jump, 440-yard dash, and 880 and mile relays could not overcome Euclid's overall strength.

Three first places were captured by the Raiders at the Brush Relays held at Brush on the evening of May 29. Druian, Me-George, and Taylor ran legs of each of the three races, helping to smash meet records in all three. They were joined by Bill Kohner in the 440 and 880 relays, and by junior Bruce Rabinovitz in the mile relay. Superior depth defeated the Raiders again, though, as Mayfield's 38 points outlasted Shaker's 34 points. The team from Berea tied the Ricemen and host team Brush was fourth.
